1: How to Apply

When applying for municipal accommodation, there are eligibility requirements, such as income limits, the number of people in your family living with you, whether you are suffering hardship related to obtaining accommodation, etc. Please read this Handbook for Applications carefully before applying.

For accommodation where there are vacancies, the application paperwork, etc., will be available from one week before the application period.

- From the list of municipal accommodation, choose one accommodation you wish to apply for, fill in the following two documents with the relevant information, and submit them to the Housing Division. Necessary documents: ① Application for Entrance into Municipal Accommodation; ② Questionnaire for Applicants for Municipal Accommodation
One household can only apply for one apartment. If you apply for two or more apartments, all your applications will be cancelled.
- Applications cannot be accepted on Saturdays, Sundays, or national holidays.
- If your application is not received before the deadline for applications, it will not be processed.
- At the stage of making the application, it is not necessary to submit any supporting documents (certificates of income, etc.). However, candidates for accommodation (those chosen in the lottery) will be required to submit supporting documents at the stage of examination of eligibility.
- If it becomes clear from the documents you submit at the examination stage that you have made a dishonest application (for example that you are in arrears with municipal tax (including any late payment charge), etc.), at that point you will forfeit your eligibility. Please check very carefully that you fulfil the conditions for eligibility before making your application.
- There may be changes to some of the conditions for eligibility, etc., as a result of changes to relevant laws, etc.

2: The Accommodation

- ① You cannot look inside the accommodation.
- ② Accommodation is repaired before new residents move in, but in places there may be a degree of damage or stains remaining.
- ③ Depending on the accommodation (the residents' association), you may be required to pay a common service fee (fees for maintenance and management of the wastewater treatment tank, electricity and water charges for common areas, etc.) separate to your rent.
- ④ In some accommodation, the installation of a gas water heater, mesh window screens, etc. is paid for by the resident. If such amenities are installed by the resident, then when leaving the accommodation, they must be removed, and the apartment returned to its original state.
- ⑤ There is no air conditioning in the accommodation.
- ⑥ Pets (dogs, cats, etc.) cannot be kept in the accommodation.
- ⑦ The interior of all municipal accommodation is no-smoking.
- ⑧ Depending on the accommodation, there may be no free car-parking spaces.
- ⑨ When moving out of the apartment, irrespective of how long you have lived there, and the state of the apartment, you will be required to pay for the replacement of the tatami mats, the repapering of the sliding 'fusuma' and 'shoji' doors, etc. The cost depends on the number of tatami mats, etc., but is around 50,000-200,000 yen.
- ⑩ When residents move in to or out of the apartment, information necessary for the management of the accommodation (residents' names and contact details, number of residents, date of moving in or moving out, etc.) are provided to the manager of the accommodation and to the designated administrator.

3: From Application to the Notification of the Lottery Result

Receipt of Application (provisional judging of eligibility)

Decide the accommodation you will apply for, fill in ① the Application for Entrance into Municipal Accommodation and ② the Questionnaire for Applicants for Municipal Accommodation, and submit it.

Applications should be taken to the Housing Department, or by post.

A provisional judging of your eligibility will be conducted, by checking the requirements relating to place of residence, the family members who will be living with you, etc.

If you do not meet the requirements for residence, or if there is missing information in your application, you will become ineligible.

If you are deemed to be a household to be given special consideration in the lottery,

Notification of Result and Notification to Successful Applicants of Formal Inspection of Eligibility

4: From the Inspection of Eligibility to Moving in to the Accommodation

Formal Inspection of Eligibility

Following the instructions in the explanation, please prepare the documents for the formal inspection of your eligibility for residence. If the documents are not submitted by the specified date, you will lose your eligibility.

For details of the necessary documents, please refer to page 16.

Permission for Moving In

Notification of Permission for Moving In

Formalities for Moving In

Please complete the formalities for moving in, by the specified date.

- ① Submit the acknowledgment and other necessary documents.
- ② Pay the security deposit.

Moving In

Please come to the Housing Division to collect the key to your accommodation.

When you come to collect the key, there will also be an explanation of points to be aware of after you have moved in to the accommodation, so the applicant must come to collect the key in person.

The moving-in day is the day when the key is handed over to you.

You are required to move in to the accommodation within 14 days of the date from which moving in is possible.

5: Eligibility for Application

Before applying, please read the eligibility requirements for residence below, and check that you meet the conditions for application. If as a result of the inspection of eligibility it is found that you do not meet the conditions for application, you will lose your eligibility for residence, even if this is after you have been assigned accommodation to

(1) Eligibility Requirements for General Households

You must meet all of the conditions (① to ⑥) as shown below.

- ① You must be living in Higashihiroshima City, or your place of work is in Higashihiroshima City.
- ② You must currently have family members living with you, or family members who are planning to live with you.
 - ※ As a rule, the household should be comprised of a married couple (including engaged couples, those living in a common-law relationship (verifiable on their certificate of residence) or a partnership), or parent(s) and children.
- ③ The monthly income of your household must be 158,000 yen or less.
 - ※ 'Income' refers to income included in the definition shown in the ordinance regarding the establishment and management of Higashihiroshima City municipal accommodation and in the regulations governing Higashihiroshima City municipal accommodation. It does not refer to take-home pay (income after tax). For details, please refer to page 10.

★Relaxation of eligibility conditions for residents in discretionary households:

For households in the categories shown on page 11, it is acknowledged that there is a special need for a stable situation with regard to housing, and therefore the monthly income level is set to 214,000 yen.

- ④ You must not be in arrears with municipal tax, fixed assets tax, light vehicle tax or National Health Insurance payments, or with rent for accommodation provided by a local public entity. This includes late payment charges for tax or rent, and damages payable for late payments.
- ⑤ You must currently be experiencing problems with regard to your housing (your current rent is high, your accommodation is too small, etc.).
- ⑥ You must not be a member of any criminal gangs.

(2) Eligibility Requirements for Single People

You must meet both of the conditions (①) and (②) as shown below.

- ① You must meet all of the eligibility requirements for general households above, with the exception of ②.
- ② One or more of the following must apply to you.
 - 1 As of the time of application, you are aged 60 or over.
 - 2 You have received a disabled person's handbook (between level 1 and level 4).
 - 3 You have received a mental illness health and welfare handbook (between level 1 and level 3), or you have an intellectual disability recognised as the same level (rehabilitation handbook categories ㊦, A or ㊧).
 - 4 You have received a war injury and sickness handbook (for conditions shown in table 1-2 of the Pension Law (from special illnesses to category 6 illnesses), or in table 1-3 of the same law (illnesses in subsection 1)).
 - 5 You are receiving special allowances for medical treatment or special allowances, under the Law Concerning Assistance for Atomic Bomb Survivors.
 - 6 You are receiving welfare payments under the Public Assistance Law.
 - 7 You have been repatriated from overseas, and less than five years have passed since your repatriation.
 - 8 You have been hospitalized in a facility for the treatment of leprosy patients.
 - 9 You are a victim of domestic violence (a victim as defined in Clause 1 of the Spousal Violence Prevention Law), and one or more of the categories a-c on page 29 apply to you.

However, if you need constant care in your daily life, and if this situation comes to light and it is judged that it is not appropriate for you to move in to municipal accommodation, you may not apply.

※ Even if one or more of the conditions in ② above do not apply to you, you may apply for accommodation 'for a household of one or more persons' in an area with special rules.

Points to Note:

- ① The applicant must be an adult. In addition, it is not possible to apply for accommodation for a household comprised only of minors (those under the age of 20). (A minor who is already married shall be regarded as an adult.)
- ② As a rule, those who own accommodation may not apply.
 - Those who have owned accommodation in an area of special caution for sediment-related disasters from before the designation was made may in some cases be able to apply for municipal accommodation.
 - If the owner of a house is planning to sell it, the sale must be finalized before the date of judgement of eligibility, and it is necessary to submit documents to prove that the owner has no assets.
- ③ As a rule, the legal resident (the person whose name is on the contract) of public accommodation within Higashihiroshima City (prefectural or municipal housing) or accommodation of a public housing corporation, etc., may not apply. Similarly, the current legal resident of public accommodation may not apply for other public accommodation as a cohabitant.
- ④ If a person who is currently residing (or has resided in the past) in public accommodation (prefectural or municipal housing) or accommodation of a public housing corporation, etc. (including municipal accommodation of towns before amalgamation with Higashihiroshima City), or any cohabitant of that person, has been in arrears with rent or has misused the accommodation (had people living in the accommodation without permission, vacated the accommodation without permission, been absent from the accommodation for long periods of time, caused a nuisance, etc.), then as a rule it is not possible to apply (reside, cohabit).
- ⑤ Members of one household cannot apply for two or more apartments. If members of a household apply for two apartments separately, then all of the applications shall be rendered invalid.
- ⑥ If an applicant currently has family members living with him/her, as a rule it is not possible to live apart from those family members in an unnatural way, and to apply as a single person. (This does not apply to victims of domestic violence.)
 - If the case of planned divorce, etc., the divorce must be finalized by the date of judgement of eligibility, and it will be necessary to submit documents to prove this.
- ⑦ You must have a family member living together with you, or planning to live with you.
 - As a rule, applications based on an unnatural split of a household, a husband and wife living separately, or the consolidation of households, will not be accepted.

- The household must consist primarily of a married couple (including engaged couples or those living in a common-law relationship (verifiable on their certificate of residence) or partnership), or parent(s) and children.

For engaged couples, promptly after getting married please submit a copy of a document that proves that you are married. If the engagement is cancelled, all of the residents of the apartment will lose their eligibility for residence. If both members of the engaged couple cannot live together in the accommodation within three months of the apartment becoming available to move in to, the permission for residence shall be cancelled, and it will be necessary to leave the accommodation. In the case of an engagement between minors, the agreement of the person with parental authority shall be necessary.

- In the case of planned marriage, the marriage must be finalized by the date of judgement of eligibility, and it will be necessary to submit documents to prove this.
- If family members living abroad are due to come to Japan at a later date, it will be necessary to submit documents to prove that they are in Japan by the date of judgement of eligibility.

- ⑧ It is not possible to change any part of the details of application between the submission of the application and the date when you move in to the accommodation.
- All members of the household listed at the time of application must reside in the accommodation. Changes to the family members living together in the accommodation are not allowed. However, this does not apply in the case of birth or death.
 - If there is a member of the household who does not reside in the accommodation, or if a person not listed on the application form resides in the accommodation, the permission for residence shall be cancelled, and it will be necessary to leave the accommodation, even if this is after permission to move in has been granted, and the key handed over.
- ⑨ If there is dishonest information, etc., on the application form, the application shall be rendered invalid.
- ⑩ If you are unsure about your eligibility, or if you think that another special circumstance may apply to you, please ask a member of staff of the Housing Division.
- ⑪ Members of staff of the Housing Division will not calculate your monthly income at the time of your application.
- ⑫ There are increasing cases where applicants withdraw after applying or after having been chosen in the lottery. When applying, please consider the details of the accommodation, etc., before making your application. If you are selected in the lottery, and you cancel your plan to move in without completing the formalities for residence, you will not be able to apply for one year.
- ⑬ There are some differences in the eligibility requirements for evacuees eligible for support under the Children and Disaster Victims Support Law, so please enquire for details.

In the inspection of eligibility conducted by means of the documents submitted as part of the residence formalities, if it is discovered that there are discrepancies between the documents and the details of your application, your eligibility will be cancelled. Please check that your application is truthful, and that there are no mistakes.

Even after moving into the accommodation, you may be required to vacate it in the following cases:

- If you gained the accommodation by falsifying your eligibility illegally;
- If the rent is unpaid for 3 months or more;
- If there is intentional damage to the accommodation or common facilities;
- If the accommodation is not used for more than 15 days without justifiable reasons;
- If you refuse an on-site inspection of the accommodation without a justifiable reason;
- If you do not follow the instructions or orders of the city;
- When the rental period for public housing, etc. expires.

After moving in, follow the rules for each accommodation and each area, and live with consideration for each other. (In particular, pay attention to noise, keeping pets, garbage disposal rules, leaving personal items in common areas, parking positions for cars, bicycles, paying common service fees, participating in community cleanups, etc.)

6: Income Criteria

In order to apply for municipal accommodation, your monthly income must be within a certain level.

Please check whether your household's income is within this level, using the following method of calculation.

(1) How to Calculate Your Monthly Income

- ① The calculation takes into account the total annual income of all the members of the applicant's household. Total annual income refers to the income for one year of all members of the household with an income.
- ② From the income amount of those with income from employment or miscellaneous income related to pension income, deduct up to 100,000 yen in addition to the basic deduction for tax purposes. If the income amount is less than 100,000 yen, the amount deducted shall be the income amount.
- ③ Calculate the total of the appropriate deductions shown on page 15.
- ④ Subtract ② and ③ from ①, and divide the result by 12. This is your monthly income.

《Calculation》

(A) Total household income	_____ Yen
(B) Deduction amount for replacement for basic deduction (②)	_____ Yen
(C) Total of applicable deductions from list of deductions	_____ Yen

Monthly Income =

$$\{\text{Total yearly income} - (\text{Basic deduction} + \text{General deductions} + \text{Special deductions})\} \div 12$$

(Fractions are rounded down)

Monthly Income	Eligibility to Apply
Over 214,000 yen	None
214,000 yen or less	Eligible to apply (discretionary level)
158,000 yen or less	Eligible to apply (general household)

(2) Discretionary Level Households

If you meet one or more of the following conditions, you are classed as a Discretionary Level Household, and the monthly income level is made less strict.

Households of people over 60	Households where the applicant is 60 years old or older and all of the cohabitants are either 60 years old or older. Single persons 60 years old or older are also eligible.
Child – rearing households	Households where one or more of the residents living in the accommodation is younger than 18 years old.
Households with disabled members	Households with one or more members who have been issued with a disabled person’s handbook (between level 1 and level 4).
Households with members with mental illness Households with members with an intellectual disability	Households with one or more members who have been issued with a mental illness health and welfare handbook (between level 1 and level 2), or who have an intellectual disability recognized as the same level (most severe to medium).
Households with members injured in war	Households with one or more members who have been issued with a War Injury and Sickness Handbook (for conditions shown in the Pension Law (from special illnesses to category 6 illnesses or illnesses in subsection 1).
Households with atomic bomb survivors	Households with one or more members receiving special medical allowances or special allowances for atomic bomb survivors.
Households with members who have been repatriated	Households with one or more members who have been repatriated from overseas, where less than five years have passed since the repatriation.
Households with members with leprosy	Households with one or more members to whom Clause 2 of the Law Regarding Payment of Compensation for Hansen's Disease Sanatorium Residents, etc. applies.

(3) Types of Income

Income counted for the calculation of income	Income not counted for the calculation of income
Income earned by the applicant and family members living together (including a fiancé(e)) that fall into the following categories. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ National pension, welfare pension, etc. (Pension received as a bereaved family and disability pension are not counted) ○ Salary, bonuses, overtime and other allowances (including income from part-time jobs, etc.) ○ Business income (including remuneration for life-insurance salesmen, etc.) ○ Income from day labor, etc. ○ Other items of continuous income that are subject to taxation such as interest and dividends 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Assistance from welfare payments ○ Allowances for atomic bomb survivors ○ Unemployment insurance benefits ○ Workers' accident compensation insurance benefits ○ Compensation for leave from work ○ Pension received as a bereaved family ○ Disability pension, disability welfare pension ○ Old-age welfare pension ○ Commuting allowance (up to a certain amount) for those with income from employment ○ Remittances ○ Tax-exempt income such as scholarships provided to cover tuition fees and expenses paid to researchers ○ Temporary income such as retirement allowance and capital gains

(4) Points to Note

- In the household applying for accommodation, if there are two or more people with income, the total annual income for all members with an income is calculated separately, and then totalled.
- If a single person has two or more types of income (for example, pension and salary, or salary and business income), the total annual income is calculated for each individual source of income, and then totalled.
- If a single person has the same type of income from multiple sources (for example, salary from two places, or two types of pension), the total amount for each source is calculated, and then the total annual income is calculated from this.

- Even if you have had income in the past or you have income at present, if you have retired by the time you submit the documents as part of the formalities for residence, your income will be calculated as 0.
- It is necessary to submit a certificate of tax withheld for 2025, or/and a certificate of municipal and prefectural tax (non-taxation) for the 2026 financial year (the period from January 1st 2025 to December 31st 2025), but if at the time when you submit the necessary documents as part of the formalities for residence you have left the job you were doing during that period and have started other employment, etc., the income from your current place of work will be used for calculation.

(5) Summary Chart for Income Levels

< In the case of only one person with income from employment, and no special deductions >

Monthly Income	Total annual income which allows you to apply (Amount shown in the 'Amount Paid' section of your certificate of tax withheld)
	Single person	2-person family	3-person family	4-person family	5-person family
Basic Level (158,000 yen or less)	2,967,999 yen or less	3,511,999 yen or less	3,995,999 yen or less	4,471,999 yen or less	4,947,999 yen or less
Discretionary Level (214,000 yen or less)	3,887,999 yen or less	4,363,999 yen or less	4,835,999 yen or less	5,311,999 yen or less	5,787,999 yen or less

※Refer to the figure for the amount paid to you, as shown on your certificate of tax withheld.

However, if you have been employed for less than one year, or if there have been periods during which your employment has been closed or you have been given leave of absence, use the following formula to calculate your total annual income.

$$\text{Estimated total annual income} = \frac{\text{※Total income} - \text{Bonus}}{\text{Months worked}} \times 12 \text{ months} + \text{Bonus}$$

※Total income is the total income for the months when you received income for employment

However, if the day on which you were employed was on or after the 2nd day of the month, that month is excluded.

8: Calculation of Rent

1. Rents are subject to change each year.

(1) Rents are fixed each financial year, depending on the income of the residents, the size of the apartment, the age of the accommodation, etc.

To begin with, the rent amount is fixed based on the monthly income, so please see the list of accommodation for which applications are being accepted.

(2) Residents in municipal accommodation are required to submit a declaration of income every year, in order that rent can be calculated. Residents receiving welfare support payments and residents whose only income is a pension must also submit this declaration of income.

(3) Households which have been resident in municipal accommodation for over three years and whose income is over the income standard are required to make efforts to vacate their apartment, and will be charged a higher rent than normal. Households which have been resident for over five years and which are classed as having a high income are required to vacate their apartment within a set period of time.

2. Those with Excessive Income, etc.

(1) Those with Excessive Income

① Those with Excessive Income are those who have resided in public accommodation for three years or more consecutively, and who have income over the excessive income level. Those who have been classed as having excessive income are required to make efforts to vacate their apartment, and will be charged a higher rent than normal.

② The excessive income level is 158,000 yen per month for general households, and 214,000 yen per month for Discretionary Level Households.

③ For an explanation of Discretionary Level Households, please refer to page 11.

(2) Those with High Income

① Those with High Income are those who have resided in public accommodation for five years or more consecutively, and who have had income over the high income level for the past two years. Those who have been classed as having high income are required to vacate their apartment within a set period of time, unless there are special circumstances.

② The high income level is 313,000 yen per month.

(3) Calculation of Rent for Those with Excessive Income

(Normal rent) + (Rent for similar properties in the neighborhood – normal rent) ×
(Rate determined by the financial year classification and the resident's income classification)

- ※ The rent for similar properties in the neighborhood is higher for newly-built properties and properties with a large floor space.
- ※ For more details, please enquire at the Housing Division.

3. Damages Payable for Late Payments of Rent, etc. (Municipal Accommodation Usage Fees, Car-Parking Usage Fees)

(1) Rate for Damages Payable for Late Payments

The rate shall be the rate of interest defined in Clause 404 of the Civil Code, and shall be calculated based on the number of days starting from the day after the deadline for payment, until the day on which the payment is made (leap years are counted as 365 days).

(2) Calculation of Damages Payable for Late Payments

① Rent amounts are rounded down to the nearest 1000 yen. If the whole amount of the rent, etc. is under 2000 yen, the amount is disregarded.

② The amount is calculated based on the rate of interest defined in Clause 404 of the Civil Code, and the result is rounded down to the nearest 100 yen. If the calculated amount is less than 1000 yen in its entirety, the amount is disregarded.

Examples:

a) The amount of rent, etc. is 1900 yen ⇒ Damages Payable for Late Payments are 0 yen (the amount is under 2000 yen, so it is disregarded)

b) The amount of rent, etc. is 5,500 yen, and it is paid one year late
5,500 yen ⇒ 5,000 yen (the amount is rounded down to the nearest 1000 yen)
5,000 yen × 365/365 days × Rate of interest defined in Clause 404 of the Civil Code
< 1000 yen ⇒ Damages Payable for Late Payments are 0 yen
(the amount is under 1000 yen, so it is disregarded)

c) The amount of rent, etc. is 41,500 yen, and it is paid 300 days after the payment deadline
41,500 yen ⇒ 41,000 yen (the amount is rounded down to the nearest 1000 yen)
41,000 yen × 300/365 days × Rate of interest defined in Clause 404 of the Civil Code
> 1000 yen ⇒ Damages Payable for Late Payments are 1,000 yen
(the amount is rounded down to the nearest 100 yen)

(3) Payment of Damages Payable for Late Payments

Damages Payable for Late Payments are added until the payment of the rent amount, etc., can be confirmed by Higashihiroshima City.

The longer a payment of rent, etc., is left, the more difficult it becomes to pay. Please be sure to pay your rent, etc. by the payment deadline.

When it has been confirmed that you have paid the rent amount, etc., owing, you will be sent a notice of Damages Payable for Late Payments. Please take the payment slip to a financial institution to pay.

9: The Selection Process

- ◆ If there are multiple applications for a single accommodation, a public lottery will be held to decide candidates for accommodation and those on the waiting list. Applicants will be notified of the date and time and location of the public lottery, and their lottery number.
- ◆ For apartments with no applicants, a supplementary application process will be held.
- ◆ Households in the following categories will be given special consideration in the selection process, as set out in the ordinance.

Households in the following categories will have double the chance of selection (two numbers for the lottery) compared to normal households.

Category	Details

◆ The Public Lottery

① Attendance/Non-Attendance at the Public Lottery

Attendance at the public lottery is not mandatory. Even if you do not attend, this will have no effect on the result of the lottery.

② Method of Selection

For each apartment in each accommodation (for which applications are being accepted), the lottery balls for the relevant applicants will be put into a lottery machine. The applicant whose lottery ball is first out of the machine will be the successful applicant, and the applicant whose lottery ball is drawn next will be the reserve applicant.

If you are present at the lottery, you may be asked to help with the running of the lottery, as a representative.

③ Results of the Lottery and Notification of Results

In the lottery, one successful applicant and a maximum of two reserve applicants will be chosen for each apartment in each accommodation (for which applications are being accepted). Applicants will be notified of the results of the lottery by post. (Reserve applicants will only be notified that they were not successful in the lottery.)

The successful lottery numbers will also be displayed at the counter of the Housing Division, and on the City website.

Please refrain from enquiring about the results of the lottery by telephone.

◆ Conditions for Victims of Domestic Violence

a: Individuals for whom less than five years have passed counting from the day on which temporary protection as defined in Clause 3-3-3 of the Spousal Violence Prevention Law, protection in a women's self-reliance support facility as defined in Clause 5 of the Spousal Violence Prevention Law, or protection in a mother-and-child welfare support facility as defined in Clause 23-1 of the Child Welfare Act, ended.

d: Those who have suffered mental aftereffects due to crime and are medically unable to reside in their homes.

10: Specific Public Rental Housing

This information details the differences in the application process for specific public rental housing, compared to the process for public (municipal) housing. Specific public rental housing is rental accommodation built and provided by the city for those who are needing accommodation. Residence is subject to income being within a certain range.

1: Eligibility for Application

To apply, you need to fulfil all of the conditions (①~⑤) below:

- ① You must currently have family members living with you, or family members who are planning to live with you. The household should be comprised of a married couple (including engaged couples or those living in a common-law relationship), or parent(s) and children.
- ② The income of all members of the household intending to move in must be within a certain range (see below).
(This income amount is stipulated in the legal regulations regarding the promotion of provision of specific high-quality rental accommodation, and it does not refer to take-home pay (income after tax).)
- ③ You must not be in arrears with municipal tax, fixed assets tax, light vehicle tax or National Health Insurance payments, or with rent for accommodation provided by a local public entity. This includes late payment charges for tax or rent, and damages payable for late payments.
- ④ You must currently be experiencing problems with regard to your housing (your current rent is high, your accommodation is too small, etc.).
※ You can also apply if you live in municipal accommodation. If your application is successful, you will be required to vacate the municipal accommodation in which you are residing.
- ⑤ You must not be a member of any criminal gangs.

2: Income Levels

In order to apply for entrance into Specific Public Rental Housing, your monthly income needs to be within a certain range.

$$\text{Monthly Income} = \{ \text{Total annual income} - (\text{Basic deduction} + \text{General deductions} + \text{Special deductions}) \} \div 12$$

Monthly Income Criteria 158,000 yen or more
487,000 yen or less

※ Even if your monthly income is less than 158,000 yen, if your income is set to rise, it is possible to apply.

3 Summary Chart for Income Levels

< In the case of only one person with income from employment, and no special deductions >

Monthly Income	Total annual income which allows you to apply (Amount shown in the 'Amount Paid' section of your certificate of tax withheld)
	2-person family	3-person family	4-person family	5-person family
158,000 yen or more ~	3,512,000 yen ~	3,996,000 yen ~	4,472,000 yen ~	4,948,000 yen ~
487,000 yen or less	8,248,888 yen	8,671,111 yen	9,093,333 yen	9,515,555 yen

4: Other

There is a system that allows rent to be partially reduced if criteria relating to your household and your income are met. Please ask the staff of the Housing Division for details.

● Please check the applicable on the left of the following 6 qualifications for moving in. All six move-in application qualifications must be met.

- You must live in Higashiroshima City, or have your place of work in the city.
- You must have family relations who live with you, or who are trying to live with you, at present. This includes married couples, or couples in a common-law marriage, and families consisting of a parent and child.
- The combined income of all household members who will be living in the accommodation must be less than a specified amount (see section 3: Income limits).
(‘Income’ refers to an income amount defined in the Ordinance Regarding the Establishment and Management of Higashiroshima City Municipal Accommodation, and in the Regulations Regarding the Management of Higashiroshima City Municipal Accommodation. It does not refer to take-home pay.)
- You must not be in arrears with municipal tax, fixed asset tax, light vehicle tax, National Health Insurance payments, or rent payments for accommodation rented from a local government body (this includes late payment fees and late payment damages relating to taxes and rental payments).
- You must have a problem with your current accommodation (for example, the rent is too high, the room is too small, etc.)
- You must not be a member of a criminal gang, etc.

● If you are applying alone, please be sure to circle the applicable items.
