2: Method of payment

Apart from the portion for school meal fees, the payment is made from the City to the applicant via the child's school. As soon as the eligibility to receive subsidies for school meal fees is confirmed, the parent/guardian's payment for school meals by bank account transfer will be stopped. While the application is being judged, school meals will be payable by bank account transfer by the parent/guardian, but in this case, once eligibility has been confirmed, the payments made until the start of the month in which eligibility begins will be repaid.

3: Range of subsidy

The items covered by the subsidy differ depending on the address of the parent/guardian, and on whether or not welfare support (seikatsu hogo) is being received.
