Those aged 20 or over are required to enrol in the National Pension Scheme. This is the case even for students. However, there is a special system for National Pension Scheme payments by students, by which the payments can be postponed if the individual's income is below a certain level.

Current students at educational facilities specified by the School Education Act whose income for the previous year is below a certain level are eligible to apply for postponements. These educational facilities include universities (graduate schools), colleges, high schools, specialist high schools, vocational schools, and other schools (the enrolled course being one year or more). The upper income limit for the previous year's income is 1,180,000 yen plus 380,000 yen for each dependent relative.

To apply, you will need to include a copy of a certificate of enrolment, or of your student ID.

If you postponed your payments during the 2018-2019 financial year through this system, and you may be able to continue to postpone your payments during the 2019-2020 financial year, you should have been sent an application form (a postcard) during April. If you are still a student at the same educational institution as last year, then if you fill in the postcard with the necessary details, you can apply for postponement during the 2019-2020 financial year.
